Negro Who Fled U.S. in Russia On Way to China

MOSCOW, July 19 (UPI) A self-exiled American passed through Moscow today on his way to Peking, where he intends to reside.

Robert F. Williams, a Negro from Monroe, N.C., and a former official of the NAACP, flew to Communist China after four years' residence in Cuba.

He indicated that the reason he fled the United States was that he had been erroneously charged with the kidnaping of two white men in a North Carolina race riot in 1961.

He said Cuban authorities arranged for his permission to go to Peking. Williams, who is accompanied by his wife, said he is still a U.S. citizen and intends to return home when his case is cleared up and he is exonerated of the kidnaping charges.
